Negroes Arrive, White Students Boycott Schools

By ED YOUNG

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — Twenty-two Negro children but not a white child showed up for enrollment today at Warren County High School, reopened after five months' closure.

The Negro youngsters arrived in groups of three and four, and walked slowly up the hill to the entrance.

A few townspeople, some white children of school age, gathered but no words were spoken to the Negro children.

Police had set up barricades at the entrance and allowed no one except the pupils on the grounds.

Two policemen manned the gates, others were at the top of the hill, facing the school. Sheriff's deputies and state police were stationed along the street leading to the school.

As each child passed through the barricade, his name was checked by Warren County's school supervisor, Brent Sandage.

The first group arrived only 15 minutes before registration was to begin for classes starting Thursday. Within the next 10 minutes the other 18 had arrived, three or four to a car. None came on buses.

The group of 22 included 10 boys and 12 girls.

Polio Bill Defeated in the Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A House bill to require that all children be inoculated against polio before being allowed to enter public school was defeated in the Senate yesterday.

The vote was 14 for, 16 against. Mrs. Gordon P. Oates, Pulaski County representative, sponsored the measure.

The bill would exempt children who had a physical disability that prevented them from being inoculated, or children whose parents objected on religious grounds.

The House also gave 81 to 6 approval of Lawrence Rep. Paul Graham's bill to limit the deduction to $400.

Graham said the House should pass both bills and permit the Senate and the governor to decide which one they wish to become law.

Under present law, no deduction is allowed for federal income taxes. Neither bill would effect 158 tax returns, which will be filed this year.

Disregarding the state Highway Department's assertion that it urgently needs additional funds, the House passed a bill which would take an estimated $420,000 annually from highway revenues.

The vote was 60 to 22 on the bill. Continued on Page Three

Wabash River Forces More From Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Wabash River continued its rampage in southern sections of Indiana and Illinois today, forcing hundreds of rural residents from their homes and flooding thousands of acres of farm land.

Flood waters from the surging river broke through three levees Tuesday, two northeast of Lawrenceville, Ill., and one across the river near Oaklawn, Ind. Water up to five feet deep covered miles of farm land and closed two major highways.

Cooler and dry weather prevailed in the flood zone as cold air from Canada moved southward into most of the Midwest and the northern Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma.

Skies were cloudy in many sections of the country but there were only two major wet spells. Rain continued along the Pacific Coast from central California to Canada. Snow fell across most of the Ohio Valley northward to southern sections of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The biggest blizzard in two years tapered off in Montana after dumping more than a foot of snow in western central sections. Many rural schools were closed. The covering at Helena measured 16 inches and was 15 inches at Lewistown. Four deaths were attributed to the storm.

In the flood district, nearly 1,000 rural residents were affected by the backwaters of the Wabash. More than 100 trucks manned by police and volunteers splashed over inundated country roads, moving farm families and their belongings to high ground. Dozens of boats and amphibious ducks moved into areas inaccessible by truck. Several transcontinental truck drivers, delayed by the flood, assisted in the evacuations.

Farm Bureau Progress Is Outlined

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Progress of Homestead County Farm Bureau in its current membership drive indicates that farmers recognize the need for an organization to speak in their behalf, President Charles W. Key of Homestead County Farm Bureau said today.

Mr. Key reported 534 farm families in the county had enrolled to date. The figure represents 64 per cent of the county quota for 1959.

By joining the organization, Mr. Key said, farmers vote their approval of Farm Bureau's approach to the problems of agriculture on the local, state and national levels.

A total of 58,541 farm families were enrolled in Arkansas during 1958, and the national figure was more than one and one-half million, making American Farm Bureau by far the largest general farm organization in the world.

N. B. Coleman, membership chairman, reported over 700 families were represented Tuesday night at the kickoff supper meeting.

The checkup meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. February 23rd at the Diamond Cafe.

Foreman Changes Name Officially

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Senate approved Tuesday a House bill to change the name of Rocky Comfort, in Little River County, to Foreman, but not without some tongue-in-cheek play.

Sen. Roy Riales of Mena brought up the measure.

One senator suggested the name be changed to "Southern Comfort," a brand of liquor.

Sen. Morrill Gathright of Pine Bluff, recognizing the town's leading industry, Arkansas Cement Corp., wanted to know if "this is a concrete proposal."

The name Foreman has been commonly used for the town.

President Wants Dulles to Stay on Job If Able

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he wants Secretary of State Dulles to remain on the job as long as Dulles believes he is able to carry on.

Eisenhower told his news conference that he and Dulles agreed during the President's visit to Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday to go right ahead with plans for international conferences.

In response to a question, the President said he has given no thought to naming an alternate negotiator. If Dulles is physically unable to attend the conference because of his illness with cancer, Eisenhower said he has not discussed with anyone the possibility of replacing Dulles as secretary of state.

Eisenhower said that since Dulles became secretary of state he has made it clear to the President that any time Eisenhower feels the secretary is either a political or national liability the President can accept his resignation.

In this connection, Eisenhower said Dulles had never made the specific statement that he wanted to resign because that would have indicated the secretary wanted to lay down his duties and responsibilities.

Dulles will be treated with radiation therapy in an effort to control the cancer condition discovered as the result of an operation for hernia last Friday.

Mr. Gen. Leonard D. Henton, commander at Walter Reed, has now called in four outside medical experts for consultation on the future handling of Dulles' illness.

He said several communities in Pemisot and Dunkin counties in Missouri had been segregated schools. He did not name other localities where there has been opposition to desegregation.

Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman of St. Louis, another committee member, said the Negro in Missouri is not free to buy a home wherever he wishes.

In parts of St. Louis, she said, there is "what might be termed a gentlemen's agreement among real estate people not to sell to Negroes."

Arkansas' latest cold wave will send temperatures skidding into the teens and low 20s in the northern part of the state tonight.

Sub-freezing lows are predicted for the rest of the state, too.

Snow flurries were reported at mercury sank with the advance of a mass of cold air across Arkansas.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies were forecast for the state through tomorrow, along with the colder readings.

Highs today were expected to range from the 30s in northwest Arkansas to the low 50s in the south.

The forecast called for lows of 15 to 25 in north Arkansas tonight. Lows in the mid to high 20s were predicted for central Arkansas, and minimum readings ranging from the mid 20s to low 30s in the southern part of the state.

Dayetteville reported the lowest reading, 32 degrees, early today. Other lows early today included Walnut Ridge 35, Pippin 37, Memphis 30, Pine Bluff, Little Rock and Fort Smith 41, Texarkana 49 and El Dorado 52.

He said the state's steady population loss was expected by statistical experts to continue for some time, and in such a situation "anything that opens new wounds is deadly."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus last September ordered the city's four public high schools to remain closed in a move to keep them from opening on an integrated basis. The doors still are shut.

After McDonald's editorial of last week appeared, his mail was heavy. He said there was considerable opposition to his stand, concentrated on a belief that he should not use the magazine for his personal views. But, he said, most of comment approved his stand.

Action on all was deferred until a subcommittee reports back on its investigation of utility property assessments.

Sen. Douglas Bradley of Jonesboro explained his bill which would cut maximum assessments to 12 and one half per cent of valuation. The bill keeps all other provisions of the 1955 Reassessment law, which pegged assessments at an eventual 20 per cent of actual value.

The frame of the Reassessment Law did not have in mind doubling or tripling taxes, Bradley said. "But that is what has happened in many counties."

Bradley said the Legislature had no control over millages and that the only way it could prevent overtaxation under the law was to lower the maximum assessments.

"In most cases, it is impractical to reduce millages," Bradley said. "For example, millage pledged to bonds cannot be reduced and this amounts to 30 mills in some places."

Bradley said lowering the maximum assessments would cut taxes of utilities. But he said he would introduce a franchise tax bill to make up the difference.

Sebastian Rep. Milt Earnhart explained his bill which would permit counties already certified under the reassessment program to tax at pre-program level until all counties have been certified.

Earnhart's bill is permissive and not mandatory.

West Won't Take First Step in Shooting War, Eisenhower Promises

Resistance to Integration in Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The only significant resistance to public school desegregation in Missouri has been in the southeastern part of the state, the Missouri Advisory Committee to the Federal Commission on Civil Rights was told yesterday.

"Dr. Lorenzo J. Greene, professor of history at Lincoln University in Jefferson City, said many southern Missouri communities have made no efforts toward desegregation in schools, busses and libraries."

Dr. Greene, making a preliminary report on a survey received from a questionnaire sent to 160 school districts, said the state generally has made smooth progress toward complying with the U. S. Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

He said several communities in Pemisot and Dunkin counties in Missouri had been segregated schools. He did not name other localities where there has been opposition to desegregation.

Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman of St. Louis, another committee member, said the Negro in Missouri is not free to buy a home wherever he wishes.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Federal court jury today ruled in favor of Texarkana Police Chief Max Tackett in a $100,000 suit brought by a Negro woman who claimed her civil rights were violated in a raid.

The jury deliberated only seven minutes before returning the verdict.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. William F. Libby resigned from the Atomic Energy Commission today. He said he had to go back to teaching and research. "I am to remain a scientist."

Libby, the only member of the five-man commission with an extensive scientific background, made his resignation effective June 30.

The resignation was announced at the White House.

President Eisenhower, saying it was a "difficult task," to accept the resignation, did not immediately announce a successor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York junkbox operator Charles Bernoff refused today to tell Senate probes whether top gangsters and racketeers have obtained loans through his money-lending firms.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor subcommittee today approved a Democratic-sponsored anti-racketeering labor bill after rejecting President Eisenhower's rival measure.

The bill by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sam J. Ervin (D-NC) was sent to the full Labor Committee by what Kennedy described as a unanimous voice vote.

Cattle Rustling Causes Concern

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Cattle rustling — not usually thought of as a modern-day crime — is causing concern among livestock raisers near here.

So much concern, in fact, that rewards totaling $1,500 have been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of cattle thieves.

A $500 reward was posted this week by Dr. Joe F. Shuffield of Little Rock and Ralph R. Harrell of Lake Conway, who raise cattle on some 600 acres in Pulaski and Faulkner Counties.

Roy Burton of Sylvan Hills, a cattleman and meat wholesaler, has had a $1,000 reward standing for several months.

Burton said he has lost about 24 head of cattle in the past year. Harrell reported that his outfit lost five, since last fall, the latest last week.

Stock tickers were first put into use in the New York Stock Exchange in 1879. Telephones were installed in 1879.

New Satellite Sends Back Hourly Data

By JOHN H. AVERILL
WASHINGTON (AP) — America's newest earth satellite streaked through space today, flashing back hourly data that may open a new era in man's ability to forecast the weather.

Jubilant scientists at National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters reported that weather monitoring equipment aboard the 20-inch satellite was "working perfectly."

"We haven't found a single fault yet," a NASA spokesman said.

Among other things, the basketball-size globe is designed to spot and report cloud conditions in an experiment designed eventually to help forecasters predict storms.

However, NASA officials reiterated that it probably will be two weeks before electrical signals transmitted from this satellite can be processed and findings reported.

By that time radio batteries which report findings of the satellite's weather eyes, a pair of photographic cells, are expected to have gone dead.

But the satellite itself, a 21 1/2 pound sphere launched Tuesday from Cape Canaveral, Fla., may continue to orbit through space for at least a decade, possibly for centuries. Not until the effects of atmospheric drag can be observed and calculated will a more definite life span be known.

Triggered by radio signals from ground stations, the satellite's tiny radio transmitter flashes back weather data approximately once each hour.

A NASA spokesman said the device is triggered "at least twice every orbit." Latest calculations indicated the satellite, dubbed Vanguard II, makes a complete orbit of the earth every 125.9 minutes.

Although Vanguard II marks only a preliminary step in utilizing satellites for weather observation, Dr. Richard Porter, head of the U.S. satellite panel for the International Geophysical Year, called it "the beginning of a new era in weather research."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three new bills spawned by anti-integration feeling had cleared the Arkansas Legislature today and awaited action by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

One sets up an Alabama-type pupil placement law for Arkansas. A second provides for assigned seating of passengers on interstate buses. The third would prohibit any member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from holding jobs with a state, county, city or public school agency.

The three proposals, previously passed by the House, cleared the Arkansas Senate late yesterday, and only one drew any measure of debate. This was the bill aimed at NAACP members.

Sen. Ellis M. Fagan said "the Senate will stoop to its lowest form of legislative process if this bill is enacted." He was joined in his opposition by five other senators as the bill passed, 22-6.

The pupil placement law is patterned on an Alabama statute which has been upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The bus-seating law makes no mention of race, but authorizes bus drivers to seat passengers as he desires in the interest of weight distribution, health, safety and other factors. Any passenger who refused to accept an assigned seat and refused to leave the bus when requested to do so, would be subject to a fine.

Taking up a fourth measure related to the integration issue, the Senate also approved a House resolution petitioning Congress to take steps to repeal the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The resolution, as introduced, alleges that the amendment was illegally adopted.

While the Senate's day was high-lighted by these actions, the House argued at length over new efforts to smooth the path of the controversial general appropriations bill.

This bill, which must be passed before any other budget measures can become law, was due up for reconsideration yesterday after having been defeated last week.

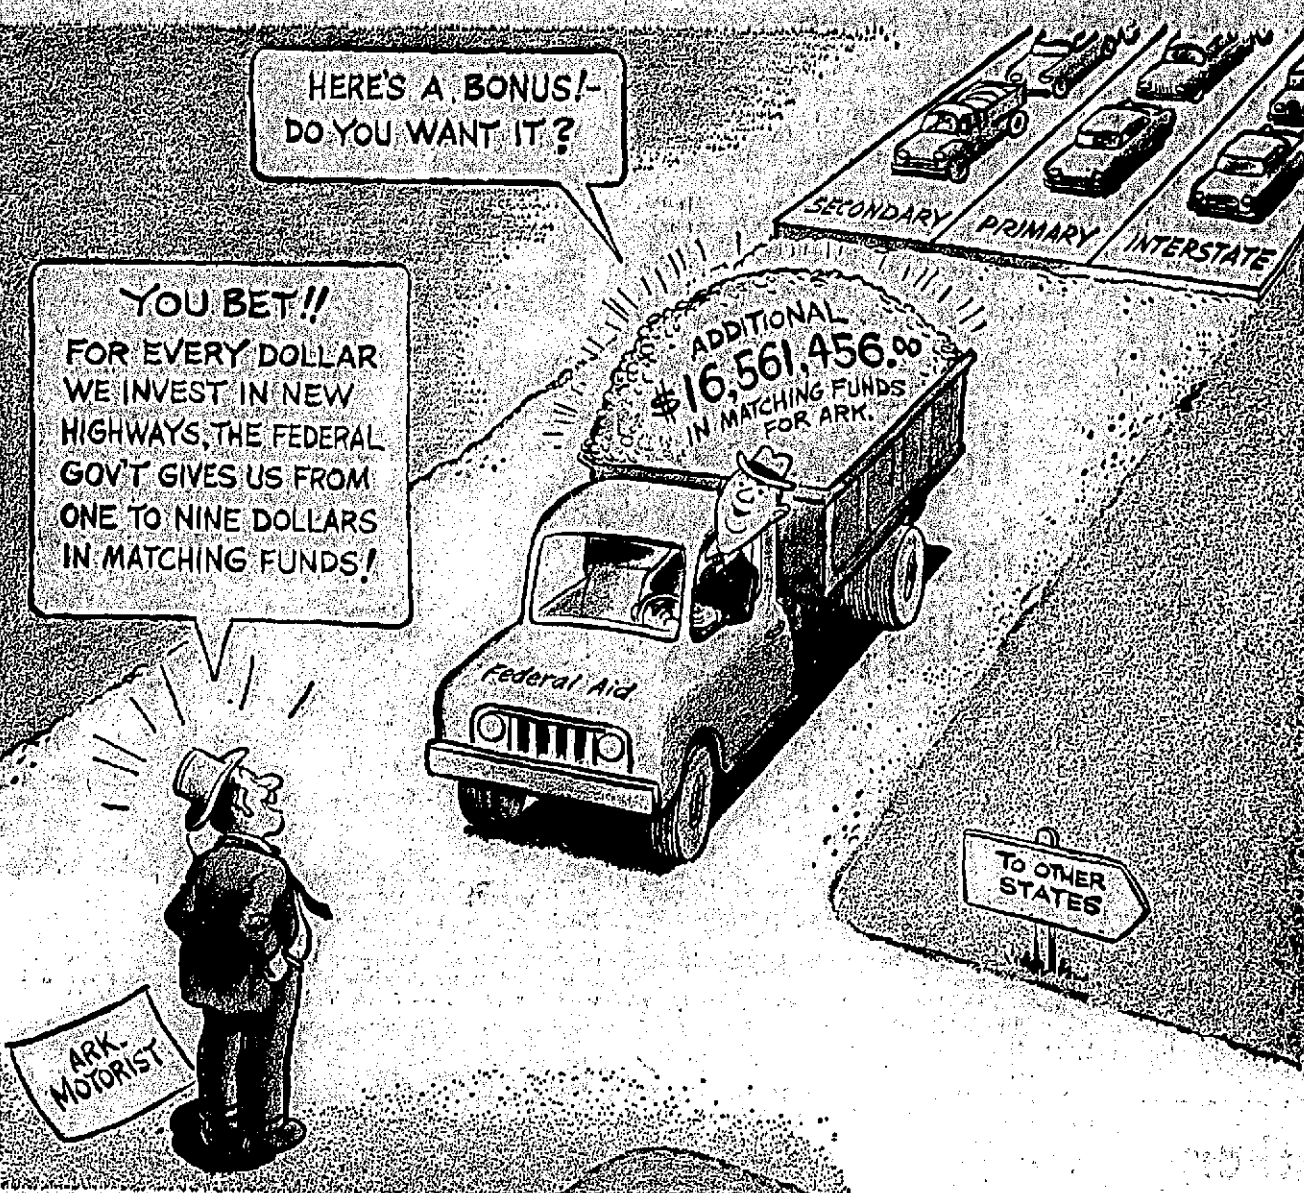

Rep. Marion Crank of Little River County moved that the time for reconsideration be delayed five days. After various substitute motions had been rejected, the House granted the delay.

The Future of Arkansas Highways is in Your Hands!

A DESPERATE NEED

Current highway revenues are insufficient for Arkansas to take advantage of all available Federal Aid matching funds. At present, your State Highway Department is unable to take advantage of some $10,000,000 in Federal Aid funds now on hand. By 1961, this deficit will have reached $16,562,456. Unless new revenues are provided by this legislature for the Highway Department, the improvement of secondary and primary highways will fall far behind schedule. And Arkansas' rightful share of the Federal Aid funds will be spent in other states!

YOUR HIGHWAY COMMISSION'S PROPOSAL...

To provide the necessary highway revenues to match all the available Federal Aid funds, the Arkansas State Highway Commission is sponsoring the following legislation:

SB 208 . . . A 1c increase in the gasoline tax
A 2c increase in special fuels tax

SB 209 . . . A $3 increase in license tags on passenger cars
Increase in truck license fees by classification

This proposed legislation would provide an estimated additional $8,785,660 in annual revenues. Of this amount, the highway department would receive $7,360,000. The state can then match all existing Federal Aid funds. COUNTIES AND CITIES WOULD ALSO RECEIVE $1,425,660 IN ADDITIONAL TURNBACK FUNDS.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE...

A bond issue, which is certainly less desirable than to "pay-as-you-go"—because of high interest costs to the taxpayer.
It's not a question of whether we can afford to provide more funds, but more a question of whether we can afford NOT to.

The People Demand and Badly Need Improved Secondary and Primary Roads.

Your independent highway commission needs additional funds in order to match all Federal funds and build more roads in all sections of the state.

Support Your Highway Commission's Proposal

Contact your local Senator and Representative. Ask them to support SB 208 and SB 209 so that Arkansas can continue its progressive highway construction program.

By Pulaski Rep. Glenn Walther to give gasoline retailers a two percent deduction from state gasoline taxes for loss of gasoline because of shrinkage or leakage.

Walther said the Highway Department had been wrongfully collecting this tax for a large number of years.

"There was no formal debate on the bill, but questioning became quite bitter."

Johnson Rep. Virgil Kolb asked Walther if he was representing the price of the Oil Dealers Assn.

Walther replied he was not sure played by the association, but added: "If I were, it wouldn't be unusual in this chamber."

Lafayette Rep. Mattie Hackett asked Walther what retainer fee he got for introducing this bill.

Walther said he got nothing.

It was Walther who estimated that the revenue loss to the state would be $420,000 a year.

Saline Rep. Virgil T. Fletcher quoted Highway Department figures which said the loss would be $1,448,000 annually.

"The Highway Department is given to exaggeration," Walther retorted.

Several representatives asked how the state could afford any loss of current highway revenues when the Legislature is getting ready to consider bills to increase gasoline taxes and vehicle license fees.

These proposed measures aim at raising an additional 7½ million dollars annually.

Walther turned aside all such questions with the stock response that the state had been wrongfully collecting the tax all along.

Khrushchev indicated the Soviet Union would bulwark transfer of its occupation powers to the East German government by signing a World War II peace treaty with the Communist German regime.

The Soviet bloc he said, is prepared to sign a peace treaty with both West and East Germany—or with one of them. If the Soviet Union signs such a treaty with East Germany, he continued, that nation "will acquire all the rights and obligations of a sovereign state."

"Any violation of East German sovereignty will be resolutely rebuffed, irrespective of whether this violation will be on water, on land or in the air," Khrushchev

DOROTHY DIX

Great Postmark Mystery
Puzzles Trio of G. I.'s

Dear Dorothy Dix:

We are three servicemen, stationed in Germany, and in need of your aid. We get the local paper and will be looking for your advice. We are all going steady with the girls from our home town. The girls seem to be going places where boys and girls mix. Still, they claim they're true to us. They are supposed to write to us on weekends but their letters are invariably postmarked Monday. We've asked for an explanation but so far none is forthcoming. — Three Aces.

Dear Trio: Keeping up a "going steady" relationship with a continent and an ocean between you is a dubious proposition. High school girls are completely left out if they can't attend mixed dances or entertainments. To exact promises on either side is unfair. I'm sure you three don't want to stay in every weekend and I'm sure the girls don't want to, either. Since they write all about their activities, they certainly aren't trying to put anything over on you boys. But you can't possibly expect them to become isolationists. As for the postmarks, there could be a number of explanations. Have a little faith in our girls, fellows. You'll soon be home to take command.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I'm a very miserable teenager who loves to dance, have fun and go on dates — but I don't do any of these. I am plagued with teenage pimples and am too self-conscious to go anywhere. What can I do? — Connie.

Dear Connie: First face the fact that you're not alone in your plight. Other teenagers — male and female — are afflicted with the same plague and you'll all get over it. Second, see your doctor for advice and treatment. He'll probably give you a diet and — while it won't be rewarding. Don't overlook the cover-ups that can be bought in any drugstore. These creams or liquids do wonders in hiding blemishes. Cheer up. Adolescence doesn't last forever.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Two years ago my husband left me for another woman and I divorced him. I took it very hard and, on the rebound, married another man. I don't love him, am very unhappy but am too proud to admit this to him. Should I go on with him or take off? — Faye.

Dear Faye: Take off with whom? There must be more to your tale. Practically every time a woman writes about being bored or unhappy with her husband, she continues, "I've met a man I really love." You've had two marital experiences, one unhappy because your husband wouldn't make it work, one because you won't make it work. What are you looking for? You have a good man. Stick to him as long as he can stand you and perhaps you'll get a new perspective on marriage one of these lucky days.

Send your problem to Dorothy warned.

Khrushchev hailed as "worthy of attention" a call by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) for direct talks between the East and West German governments and for a central European zone free of nuclear weapons.

Mansfield told the Senate last week that West Germany should abandon its opposition to dealing directly with the East Germans on the unity issue.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Willie Bob Brown, father of one of the Negro students who integrated Little Rock Central High School, was convicted of manslaughter today in the pistol slaying of another Negro.

Brown, 57, had been charged with first degree murder in the killing of Elmer Issac, 68, following a dispute at a Negro club here last June 22.

But the all-white jury of 10 men two women reduced the charge to voluntary manslaughter.

Brown had testified he shot Issac in self-defense. A pistol was found beneath Issac's body.

Minnie Jean Brown, 18, the convicted man's daughter, was one of nine Negro children whose enrollment at Central High sparked the still unsettled integration controversy here.

She was expelled from the integrated school early in 1958 and enrolled at an interracial school in New York. Brown said during the trial that she still attends the school.

Immediately after the jury returned its verdict, defense attorneys presented a motion for a new trial. Circuit Judge William J. Kirby allowed 30 days for the motion to be filed and heard.

Such a motion would be preliminary to an appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Brown said during the trial he expected to get a life sentence because his daughter was one of the "Little Rock nine."

"The state did not seek the death penalty."

The trials started yesterday. The jury deliberated for five hours without being able to reach a verdict before being excused overnight about 10 p.m. It resumed deliberations this morning.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An All-white jury resumed deliberations today in the first degree murder trial of Willie Bob Brown, father of one of the Negro children who integrated Central High School in 1957.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby dismissed the jury overnight after it told him it was deadlocked 1-2 shortly after 10 p.m. yesterday. The jurors had then been deliberating five hours.

The 57-year-old Brown was tried for the pistol slaying of Elmer Issac, 68, a Negro, outside a private club here last June.

Brown took the stand yesterday and admitted shooting Issac but contended he did so in self defense. He said Issac had threatened to kill him and pulled a pistol on him.

There was no mention of the school integration matter during the testimony of two-day trial in a packed courtroom, attended largely by Negroes.

But during the selection of jurors defense lawyers asked whether they had children at Central High and whether they would be prejudiced against Brown because his daughter had been involved in the racial crisis there.

Brown's daughter, Minnie Jean, was one of nine Negroes who at-would require a special election before it could be effected in a county.

Ashley Rep. N. B. Murphy said the entire reassessment program was "against American principles of government." While explaining his bill to repeal the reassessment law.

Murphy said his bill would not damage anyone because it would not affect tax collections for 1959. Mississippi Rep. H. H. Howard said: "Because of uncertainty on the reassessment program, many school boards sat pat and refused to lower millages; this has resulted in widespread unhappiness with the program."

Howard explained his bill which would require school districts to lower millages after the reassessment program is completed, so that no more taxes would be collected than 115 per cent of the amount collected in 1955-56.

The committee meets again tomorrow and Sen. Jack Shelton of Monticello, chairman, said it would begin drafting some of its own bills to remedy the reassessment deadlock.

Alford Charges

Communism, Raps Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charges that Communists were responsible for racial troubles in Arkansas and the South were put into the records of Congress yesterday by Rep. Dan Alford (D-Ark.).

Alford, elected to Congress from Arkansas' fifth district on a strong anti-integration stand, said Communists and their dupes had "littered in and out" of Arkansas for years.

His remarks set off a stir of comment.

Rep. Frank Thompson (D-N.J.) said the Arkansasian's "documentation is not as complete as it might be," and brought up Gov. Orval E. Faubus' connection with Commonwealth College, listed by the federal government as subversive.

Other congressmen, mainly from the South, lauded Alford's speech. The Little Rock salon told the House there was a Communist conspiracy to create racial unrest and so divide the country that it could be made a part of a one-world government controlled from Moscow.

He said he was "alarmed at the complacency of some officials toward the menace of communism." And he said he was concerned that the Justice Department yields, as he put it, to the pressure of "such an organization as the NAACP (National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People)."

"A few good Negro citizens have become pawns of this international conspiracy without being conscious in the beginning of its vicious intent of creating mass agitation to divide and conquer," he said.

Alford was interrupted during his speech by Thompson, who asked him about Faubus and Commonwealth, formerly located near Mena, Ark.

Thompson asked whether Alford knew that Faubus had attended the school and that it had been declared subversive.

"He (Faubus) has stated many times that after he found out the nature of the group, he left there," Alford replied. He said Faubus had been "cleared in every way possible by all the security agencies that are necessary."

Thompson said he raised the point to discredit the idea of "guilt by association."

"I do not subscribe to guilt by association any more in the case of the attendance of the governor of Arkansas as this organization listed as subversive than by implication to the fact that anyone who belongs to the NAACP is subversive because it has subversives in it."

During the speech, Alford received Central under protection of federal troops. She later was expelled and accepted a scholarship to an integrated school in New York.

ferred to Harry S. Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, as a "renegade journalist."

Alford said Ashmore was a director of a foundation which provided funds for an organization which Alford said was "set up by a Communist."

The brilliant Bearcat came off a 10-day rest with a 43-point job Tuesday night as streaking Cincinnati overwhelmed Miami of Ohio 102-73. NCAA Tournament Assured of Crowds

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA Basketball Tournament already is assured of capacity crowds for its semifinals and final March 20-21 at Louisville's Freedom Hall, the NCAA Service Bureau announced today.

Last year, the final between Kentucky and Seattle was played before an all-time tournament record crowd of 18,803 at the same Freedom Hall. This turnout broke the record of 18,266 set at the semifinals the night before.

The only remaining seats, the service bureau said, are those to be allocated to the students of the four schools which qualify for the semifinals.

Porkers Slam Baylor; SMU Has a Chance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Methodist clung to a chance at the outwest Conference basketball championship but Baylor's hopes died agonizingly last night.

Southern Methodist whipped Texas 78-61 and moved a half game toward leading Texas Christian. The Methodists now are two games back in second place with games back in second place with a 7-3 record. TCU leads with 9-1.

Baylor took a 59-53 thumping from Arkansas and fell down to fourth place at 6-5.

Texas Christian, with only four games left to play, gets in one of them tonight, hosting next-to-last-place Rice at Fort Worth.

Southern Methodist was winning its fifth conference game in a row as it makes a late bid for the title a share of it. Kim Nash, Bobby James, Wilbur Murrish and Steve Strange hit in double figures as the Methodists swept to a 43-30 halftime lead.

The Longhorns rallied early in the last half to four times draw within five points. But SMU quickly found the range, outscored and sped ahead. It was 19 points to the good until Charley Cox sank a last-minute field goal.

Arkansas was pumny from the field, hitting on only 25 per cent, but the Razorbacks dominated the backboards, with 56 rebounds to 40, and that was the difference. Jay Carpenter led the Arkansas scoring with 17 points. Carroll Dawson topped Baylor with 16.

There were 43 fouls in the game with Arkansas getting its last 11 points from the free throw line against Baylor's pressing attack.

Texas Christian plays lowly Texas—the Longhorns have a 1-9 record—at Austin Saturday while Southern Methodist faces tough Texas Tech, in third place three games back of Texas Christian, at Lubbock.

SHE TALKS—Joan Collins, English lass who made good in U.S. movies, is happy about her role in "Rally Round the Flag, Boys." She has a meaty comedy part that should make moviegoers happy as well.

DUTCH TREAT—A dimpled smile lights up the face of Princess Beatrix, heiress apparent to the throne of the Netherlands. This is official photo for her 21st birthday. She's the oldest of four daughters of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

REPRESENTATIVE—County Court Judge William Randall, of Kansas City, Mo., listens to congratulations over the telephone upon his nomination by Democrats to fill an unexpired term in Congress. The vacancy was left by the recent death of Rep. George H. Christopher.

HE'S HARRY—Hawaii's delegate to Congress, Democrat John A. Burns of Honolulu, has a happy smile. Prospects for congressional approval of Hawaii's bid to become the 50th state of the Union look brighter this year than ever.

Two Take $60,000 Worth of Jewels

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men posing as FBI agents invaded international financier Alexander Guterman's hotel suite Monday night, tied up his wife and 14-year-old daughter, and escaped with $60,000 in jewels.

Guterman, 44, free on bail on charges of securities law violations, was not in the suite. Earlier this week Guterman yielded control of his vast industrial empire to Hal Roach Jr.

The two bound and gagged their victims, then fled. Mrs. Guterman worked free and called police. Guterman arrived soon after.

Part of the jewelry was insured for $100,000. A taxi driver, who picked up two men with a small case near the hotel, identified one police photograph and said a second picture appeared to be that of the other man.

Wants GOP Proud of Conservative Tag

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says Republicans should wear the conservative tag proudly.

"I don't think we could make a greater mistake than to say that because some people don't like being called conservative, the Republican party should stop being conservative," Nixon told 1,000 cheering party workers Monday night.

He spoke at a luncheon honoring retiring GOP County Executive Secretary Orville J. Evans.

Businessmen Look Closer at Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — With the first quarter of 1959 at the half way mark, many businessmen are taking a more cautious look at the economy today than a few months back.

Recovery in the durable goods industries has been slower than some first hoped. Output here still lags some 5 per cent behind its pre-recession pace.

Bad weather and some crippling strikes have played a part in holding output back.

Unemployment stays stubbornly high.

Here, too, caution is seen by some as playing a big role. Factory managements have lengthened work weeks rather than take on new workers.

This can be traced in part to caution in adding workers to payrolls subject to a host of fringe benefits.

But if business tends to proceed cautiously now, few industrialists are out and out pessimists. On the contrary, most look for gradually improving business during the first half of 1959 and see a good chance of a marked turn-up in activity either at the end of this year or at the start of a new one.

For one thing, they count on consumers going on spending freely.

For another, businessmen look to business itself to increase its own spending. Part of this has already started, in the case of inventories on the rise again after months of trimming.

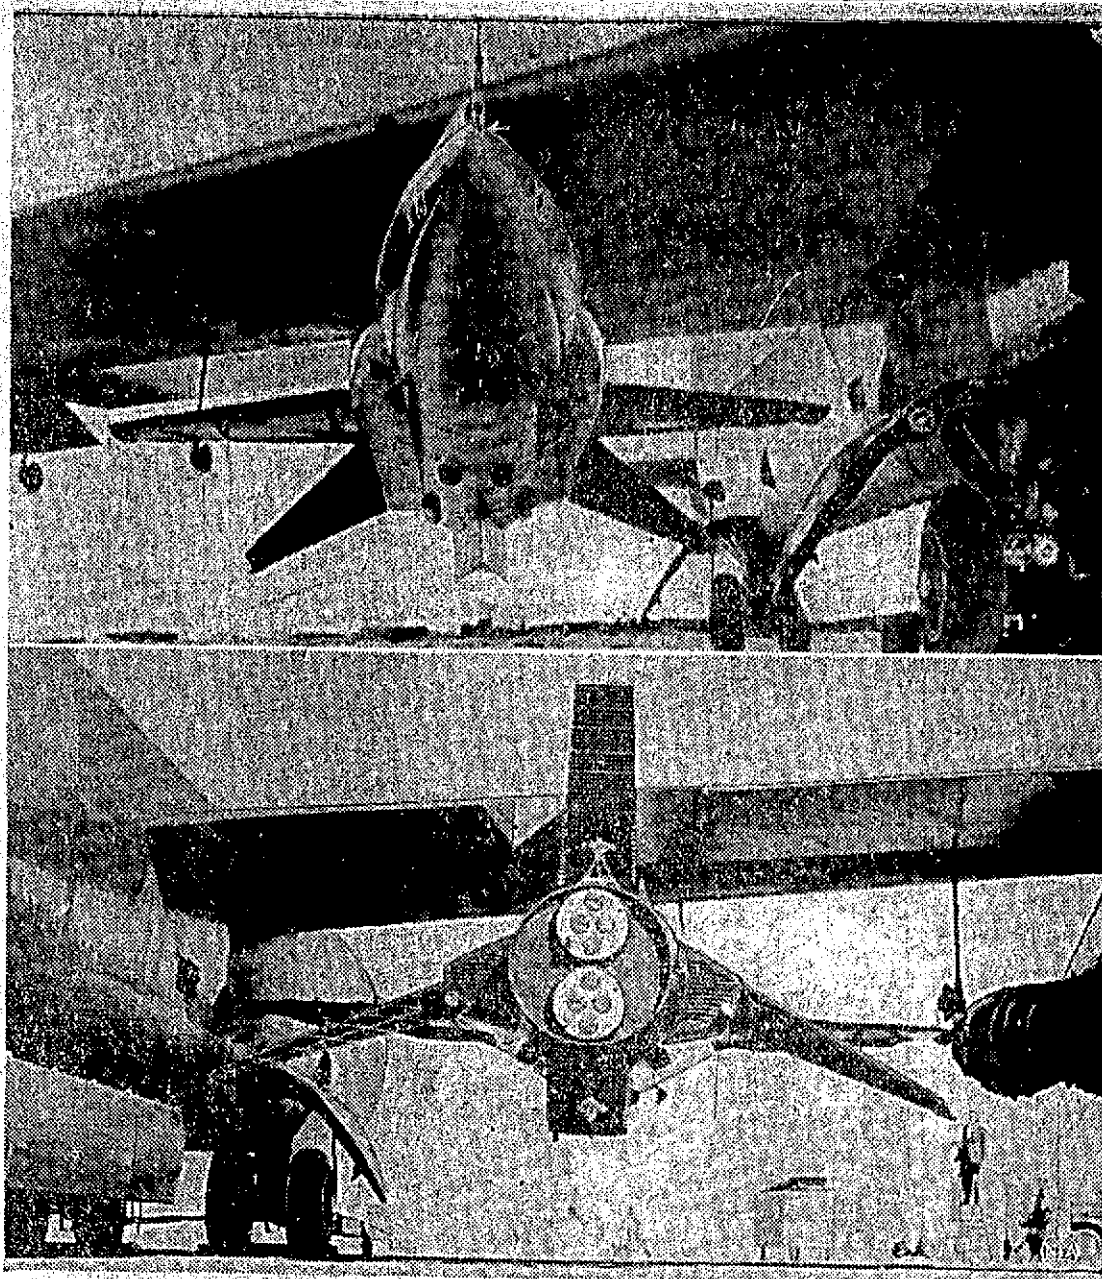

Steel mills in particular are profiting. Much of their increased output is being consumed.

Business spending for new plants and equipment seems less likely to rise soon.

But if durable goods industries are reviving at a dignified pace, nondurable goods and the services go right along commanding more of the consumers' dollars.

Output of soft goods, such as clothing and foods, has climbed to a new high, or 137 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Each year families spend more for services, whether it's for medical UNDER MOTHER'S WING—Attached to a pylon under the wing of a B-52 jet Stratofortress, the X-15 high-altitude research aircraft is in position to be carried to drop altitude. Top and bottom photos show front and rear views respectively. The rocket ship—first to try to put a man into space for a short interval—will be fueled with nitrogen and liquid oxygen through quick disconnect lines in the carrying frame. Two TV cameras on board the B-52 mother ship will observe the X-15 and its pilot leading up to the drop. The X-15 will be loosed at about 38,000 feet, where its own powerful rockets will take over. The piloted missile is designed eventually to reach an altitude of 100 miles or more. Preliminary tests at low altitude are scheduled for this month.

Cam Reeves turned to Yeager. "What about Jed," he asked gravely.

"I'm taking him to town, so that Doc Parris can see to it that he has a decent burial," Yeager said.

"Did you do any good against that combine crowd?"

"Some," Yeager said somberly. "Mitch Starker and one other for certain. There might have been more, out in the dark."

"What are you going to do, now?"

"What I should have done in the first place. Cut off the head instead of the tail."

As Cam Reeves blinked trying to figure this out, a soft, clear call came from the ranchhouse porch.

"Gil! Come here, please."

It was Laurie Benedict, slim and anxious and robed in beauty as a shift of clean-washed morning sunlight struck up a glow all about her.

He moved up to her slowly, a little stiffly, as though burdened with a spiritual as well as a physical weariness. Standing beside her he looked at her with grave absorption. He spoke as though voicing a thought aloud.

"It's hard to believe that the same world can hold a loveliness such as yours, and at the same time the kind of ugliness that moved through the dark just past, Laurie."

She met his glance mistily, and dropped a hand on his arm.

"You had a bad night of it, didn't you, Gil?" You've had so many bad nights of it, over the past year. And this the worst of all?

"It was—bad," he nodded.

She asked the same question Cam Reeves had. "What will you do now, Gil?"

Unconsciously his tone hardened. I'm looking up certain people.

Her feminine intuition was sharp, her wisdom deep. She shivered. "Not now, Gil. Think it over. Stay here with us until you've had time to—"

"No! The word burst from him harshly. "There'll be no more friends of mine shot up because of me. This I handle alone!"

Her hand tightened on his arm, refer the bill to committee for "Please, Gil. There must be other ways than—than what I know you're thinking of."

He shook his head. "I held with that idea, once. And all it ever got me was more and heavier beatings. So, I know the one answer now. It comes pretty close to being what Johnny Hook told me the first night of my return. Either I have to leave this prairie for good—or somebody else does. And I don't intend to leave!"

He patted her hand, turned away, tramped back to his horse and went into the saddle.

Cam Reeves, waiting, said, "Hold up until I dress a bronc and Ill ride with you."

"No you won't," Yeager told him. "Understand, I appreciate the thought, but your place is right here on Long B, to help Burke in case Bastian and his crowd go completely savage. That is, before I can get at Bastian."

Fully understanding now what Yeager was about, Cam tried to argue. "Alone, you won't stand a chance. How you going to get at Bastian with his outfit all around him? You'll just get yourself killed, and what good will that do?"

"There's always a time and a place and a way," Yeager said, staring straight ahead, as though already visualizing these three necessary elements. "Also, maybe Bastians hand isn't as strong as it seems. Maybe some of those combine riders don't like the going when it gets too rough. Last night, outside of Mitch Starker and one other, they didn't appear anxious to get too close. Maybe the idea of dying for $40 a month isn't exactly popular with them."

Klint Hyatt made sober survey of the town. Over opposite, Patch Kelly was opening his store for the days business, while down at Johnny Hook's establishment two freight outfits were making up.

Aside from such small activity the street was empty. For some little time Klint Hyatt stood held in somber thought, as he measured the probabilities of the day ahead. He would, he finally decided, wait until noon or a little after for Ollie to show, and if his man didn't appear by that time, he'd go looking for him. This decision arrived at, Hyatt tramped along to the courthouse and his office.

Johnny Hook, having seen the stage away, gave some last minute instructions to the skippers of the two freight outfits, and when these had lumbered off, heavy and creaking, made for the Elite, eager for morning coffee and breakfast. He offered greetings to Doc Parris and took place at the table across from him.

They traded idle talk and were on their second cup of coffee when hoofs beat a muffled mutter along the wet street. Shortly a rider came clanking in, a batch-faced combine and by name of Trip Rogers. He had the look of one who had spent a hard night with no sleep. He ordered a cup of coffee and stood at the counter gulping it. Then he turned to Doc Parris.

"You're wanted out at headquarters, Doc. One of the boys is jammed up a little."

"What's the matter with him, Trip?" Rogers hesitated slightly. "Hes got a smashed shoulder."

"How did he get it—fall off a horse?"

"No," came the reluctant an-

Proclamation

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of, by and for farm boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the public high schools of the nation. A local chapter of this fine organization is active in the Hope High School.

As America's future farmers, these young men hold in their minds and hands the progress that this community and this nation may make in the years to come, because a prosperous and productive agriculture is the very foundation of our American standard of living.

As students of vocational agriculture in high schools they study the scientific, economic and mechanical aspects of modern farming. As members of the Future Farmers of America they learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings; to speak in public; to market farm products; to solve their own problems; to finance themselves and to assume civic responsibility.

The population of America and of the world is undergoing tremendous growth. At the same time, in this nation the number of farmers is decreasing. Despite the great abundance of agricultural products today, it is vital to our future happiness and security that we maintain a supply of skilled farmers and other agricultural workers to assure that there always will be plenty of farm products to supply our needs. Future Farmers of America are training for this important work. It is fitting that we honor them, therefore, join with others throughout the nation in proclaiming Feb. 21 to 28, 1959, to be Future Farmers of America Week. I urge all people of this community to become acquainted with and give full support to the program of vocational education in agriculture, and to its students, the Future Farmers of America. As the basic agricultural producers, they are our first line of defense against the hunger and privation that we know is prevalent over much of the world today.

Specialists Called in to Examine Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three more medical specialists were called into consultation today on the treatment of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is suffering with cancer at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Two of the consultants, summoned by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commandant, are surgeons—but an announcement through the State Department said no further surgery is contemplated.

The recurrence of cancer was disclosed in an operation Friday for repair of a hernia. A cancerous section of the secretary's lower bowel had been removed in 1956.

A cancer specialist from the National Cancer Institute here had been called into the case shortly after Friday's surgery.

Dulles "spent a comfortable night," the State Department announced today.

"His spirits are high, said press officer Lincoln White. "All visual signs are normal (pulse, temperature, blood pressure). He continues to sit up morning and afternoon."

MILAN (AP) — Luigi Emanuel, 76-year-old Italian electronics expert, died of a heart attack here today. Emanuel was vice president of Birelli, Italy's leading manufacturer of tires and submarine cables.

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill will sail Thursday on Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis' yacht for a two-week cruise in the Atlantic and Mediterranean.

LONDON (AP) — A suburban train smacked into the rear of another today in the fog in southeast London, injuring 18 persons.

There were no deaths in the collision at Dartford, only a few miles from the scene of the Lewis and Clark train wreck 14 months ago in which more than 90 persons died.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Thirty-nine persons were reported killed in a gas explosion in a mine near Quetta, Monday.

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP) — A Swiss Catholic priest is believed to have been kidnapped by rebels. The car of the Rev. Alphonse Blesser was found Sunday night near Seddouk, northeast Algeria, where he had gone to celebrate Mass.

PARIS (AP) — Political rivalry was blamed for fighting in the French Middle Congo Monday night in which seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured.

LONDON (AP) — Persons in the dollar area who inherit money in Britain can now take all of it home.

The Treasury Monday lifted the restriction that only the first $50,000 of such inheritances could be taken out of the country.

Hope Auto Co. Receives Honor

Frank McLarty — Star Engraving

Hope Auto Company, Inc. has been chosen as one of seven out of over 7000 Ford dealers in the United States to have their operation presented to a Seminar of Ford dealers. Frank McLarty, president and general manager of Hope Auto Co. has been on live panels, tape recordings and in promotional films, for the past 18 months. Mr. McLarty visited Houston, Dallas, New Orleans, Oklahoma City and Memphis and spoke to Ford dealers in these cities on the "Complete Operation of a Ford Dealership."

Because of the tremendous success of Hope Auto's opening day promotion of new car showing and an increase in opening day sales, Wilding-Henderson, Inc. of Detroit, an agency that produces Sales Training and Promotional films for Ford Motor Company, sent John Mayberry and Jerry McCray, their top writer and cameraman to interview Mr. McLarty.

The information which was tape recorded and films shot at Hope Auto Co. will be used in the Seminar Program which Ford has been using for two years.

Hope Auto Co.'s operation places them in the top ten of Ford Motor Co. dealers and has earned the coveted Four Letter Award the past few years.

Tornado Spotting Tower Is Ready

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A 50-foot radar tower designed to spot tornadoes up to 200 miles away is expected to be ready for use here by the end of March.

A Weather Bureau official says the tower, to be erected at the municipal airport, should be able to detect the speed and direction of a tornado.

Meteorologist Jim Huff also said "We should be able to tell when a tornado is forming near here."

Deadline for contractors to submit bids on the proposed tower is Feb. 26 and the project should be under way soon after that date. Huff said. Completion must be accomplished within 30 days after award of the contract.

Eisenhower Arranges Visit to Mexico

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower takes off today for Austin, Tex., on the first leg of a good will mission to Mexico for informal talks with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Eisenhower arranged a morning news conference and scheduled departure aboard his private plane, Columbine 111, for 2:45 p.m. EST. He is due to arrive at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin at 7:30 p.m. CST.

Eisenhower will spend the night at Bergstrom, then take off at 6:30 a.m. Thursday on a four-hour flight to Acapulco, Mexico's tropical resort on the Pacific Ocean. The President plans a two-day stay.

This will be the first meeting of Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos, who took office last December. They have arranged talks aboard the Mexican presidents' yacht Thursday and at Eisenhower's Acapulco hotel, the plush Pineda Marqués, Friday.

But administration officials report there are no major United States-Mexican problems to occupy the two chief executives, and that the principal purpose of the visit is to give them a leisurely opportunity to get acquainted.

The President will be accompanied by his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, a top advisor on Latin American affairs. Others in his party are the President's son, Army Maj. John Eisenhower, a White House aide; Roy R. Rubottom, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs; and Mexico's ambassador to the United States, Antonio Carrillo Flores.

Present plans call for Eisenhower to leave Acapulco by plane Friday night for Augusta, Ga., and a weekend of golf.
